

Sound Steamship on Reef
Lexington, Aground Off Larchmont, Floated by Tug

Awakened by a series of shocks and the sounds of whistles and bells, 100 passengers aboard the Sound steamship Lexington, of the Colonial Line, crowded the deck early yesterday to find that the vessel had grounded on the Hen and Chickens Reef, half a mile off Larchmont. The ship, assisted by a tug, drew off the reef at high tide, and came into port under its own power, something more than five hours late.

Captain Foster Gray said a thick haze was responsible for the accident. Officials of the line said a cursory examination had revealed little damage to the hull of the Lexington.

Mrs. Alicia du Pont Dies;
Became Ill on Train

Wife of Alfred I., One of Richest Members of Family, Expires at Charleston, S. C.

WILMINGTON, Del., Jan. 7.—Mrs. Alicia du Pont, forty-two, wife of Alfred I. du Pont, one of the richest members of the du Pont family, died suddenly to-day at Charleston, S. C., where she was taken to a hospital from a train on her way to Florida. Mr. du Pont was on a trip to Coronado Beach, Calif., and was intercepted and notified of the death of his wife.

Mrs. du Pont was the daughter of Edward G. Bradford, formerly one of the foremost judges in the country, and a sister of Edward G. Bradford Jr., a lawyer, Mrs. H. Bell du Pont and Mrs. William Bush, of this city. Her mother was a du Pont and she was a cousin of her husband.

Mrs. du Pont was interested in war work as one of the officers of the Queen Mary Needle Work Guild, and also in France, where she was when the war started.

She leaves two children. The body will arrive here to-morrow and will be taken at once to her magnificent home, Nemours, near this city.

GEORGE BLAIR

George Blair, a pioneer paper manufacturer, veteran of the Civil War and member of Tammany Hall, died yesterday after a long illness at his home, 128 West Thirtieth Street.

Mr. Blair was commander of Farragut Post, G. A. R., for many years. He was born in this city seventy-four years ago. After serving in the Civil War with Admiral Farragut on the flagship Hartford, participating in the Battle of Mobile Bay and the capture of Mobile, Mr. Blair established his paper box factory in this city. He was at one time superintendent of the Department of Charities of the city, and was an active worker in the local Democratic party. He was a member of the governing board of the Foreign Commerce Club and the New York Athletic Club. He belonged to Washington Lodge, F. and A. M. His wife and two sisters survive him. The body was taken to the Campbell Funeral Church, where services will be held to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock by Farragut Post, G. A. A.

Mr. Blair was a member and vestryman of the Church of the Incarnation and a member of the board of trustees of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine. He belonged to the Metropolitan Church of the Holy Trinity, the Hudson River Club, the Piping Rock, Sleepy Hollow Riding Club and the Hudson River Club. He was president of the National Horse Show Association for two years.

Mr. Blair was survived by his wife, Mrs. Sara T. Blair, who was Miss Sara Throckmorton, and three daughters—Mrs. H. V. Ravenscroft, the wife of Colonel Ravenscroft, of the British Army; Miss Ethel K. Blair and Mrs. Alice McLean.

Transport to Take Caskets

Bodies of Soldier Dead

Five thousand caskets, to be used in removing the bodies of American soldiers from France, Belgium and England to this country, will be shipped from New York on an army transport within a few days. The caskets were made in North Tonawanda, N. Y., and are en route here in thirty-nine freight cars.

The Army Transportation Service, with headquarters at 45 Broadway, is preparing, under the supervision of Colonel Wade H. Carpenter and Captain C. D. O'Neal, to transport thousands of bodies as soon as word is received from Washington.

James McLean, Long
Business Leader, Is Dead at Age of 74

Vice President of Phelps-Dodge Co. and Director in Many Corporations Dies at New York Home

James McLean, seventy-four years old, vice-president of the Phelps-Dodge Corporation and president of the Phelps-Dodge Mercantile Company, died yesterday at his home, 907 Fifth Avenue.

Mr. McLean was born in New York City, where he attended the public schools until he went to Delaware County, N. Y., with his family in 1857.

Coming to New York City in 1867, he entered the firm of White & Haskell, then the leading metal brokers here. He remained a partner of that firm until 1874, when he opened the Chicago branch of the Phelps-Dodge Company, returning to New York as a partner in that corporation after two years in Chicago.

Mr. McLean was a director and a member of the executive committee of the El Paso and Southwestern Railroad and also a director of the American Can Company and many other corporations.

He was a member and vestryman of the Church of the Incarnation and a member of the board of trustees of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine. He belonged to the Metropolitan Church of the Holy Trinity, the Hudson River Club, the Piping Rock, Sleepy Hollow Riding Club and the Hudson River Club. He was president of the National Horse Show Association for two years.

Mr. McLean was survived by his wife, Mrs. Sara T. McLean, who was Miss Sara Throckmorton, and three daughters—Mrs. H. V. Ravenscroft, the wife of Colonel Ravenscroft, of the British Army; Miss Ethel K. McLean and Mrs. Alice McLean.

Sir Edmund Barton Dies;
Ex-Premier of Australia

Took Leading Part in Forming of Commonwealth and Held Many High Offices

LONDON, Jan. 7.—Sir Edmund Barton, former Premier of Australia, died at Sydney, New South Wales, on Sunday, according to advices received here to-day.

Sir Edmund was a leader in Australian political life and had an active part in the federal conventions which prepared the scheme of government, later approved by the British Parliament, which created the Commonwealth of Australia. He served as leader of the delegation which went to London in 1900 to present the Commonwealth bill.

He was Prime Minister and Minister for External Affairs in the first Australian federal cabinet—from 1901 to 1903.

Prior to his activity in behalf of the Australian government he had served as Speaker of the New South Wales Legislative Assembly and as Attorney General of his own state. He also was senior presiding judge of the high court of Australia.

Sir Edmund was born at Glen Sydney, January 18, 1849. He received his higher education at the University of Sydney and was admitted to the bar in 1871.

COLONEL JOHN M. FOSTER

Colonel John M. Foster, seventy-three, a veteran of the Civil War and until two years ago president of the Foster Engineering Company, which he founded, died Tuesday night at the Hotel Marie Antoinette.

Colonel Foster was born in Springfield, Ohio. He enlisted in the army at the age of fourteen, when the Civil War broke out, as a private in the 44th Ohio Infantry Volunteers. He re-enlisted in 1864 in the 8th Ohio Cavalry and was commissioned a second lieutenant. He was mustered out as a first lieutenant and breveted a lieutenant colonel by special act of the Ohio State Legislature because of his distinguished service. Colonel Foster was wounded four times and took part in most of the important campaigns of General Burnside's army and General Sheridan's army.

Members of the Loyal Legion and the Ohio Society, of which Colonel Foster was a member, will attend the funeral at 11 o'clock Friday morning at the Hotel Marie Antoinette. Colonel Foster is survived by his wife, Mrs. Towney Foster.

GEORGE S. SCOTFIELD

George Starr Scofield, thirty-nine, chairman of the Republican County General Committee of Richmond, died yesterday at his home on Belair Road, Fort Wadsworth, Staten Island, of pneumonia.

Mr. Scofield was born in Southfield, Staten Island. He was graduated from the New York Law School and was admitted to the bar in 1901. He was general attorney for the H. M. Flagler estate and also for Flagler's Florida East Coast Railway and the Hudson Tunnel Company. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Sara E. Scofield, and two daughters.
